

Kesler Science

Kesler science is a hands-on, integrated science program that is state standard aligned and has helped meet our junior high students' need for engagement and interest. We know that the more excited kids are about science, the better they perform academically, and the more likely they are to succeed in the science classroom and beyond. Having had to move to some remote learning in the past year has been difficult, but the online and digital resources have been very beneficial as well.
